“ I didn't know Rozalia, but I did know her brother, Mitchell. He was my fathers' friend when I was a little girl in Detroit from about 1955 to 1964. My father was Tony Mucha, and if you knew Mitchell, you knew about my fathers' involvement in cars, since Mitch was usually in the shop behind our house with my dad.

Mitch was always very kind to me as a little girl, and spoke of how he grew up on a farm and took care of draft horses. He helped my mother, Irene, to inventory and close out my fathers' garage in Frazer where he died in 1976.

Mitch and my mother kept in touch occasionally for about 20 years after that, until she passed away in 1999.

My condolences to the family.

Sandra Otto (Mucha)
