“ My dear friend Virginia. I never forgot you. There are people who live their lives not just for themselves but for others. Virginia was such a person. Planted rosebushes in front her apartment to beautify someone elses day. She took the talents God gave her and used them for good. You were my neighbor and friend. We shared a meal and I heard your life stories especially the ones of the great depression. You and Ralph getting married and sleeping on the hard concrete front porch. Or going to the movies on Milwaukee Street with your girlfriend, smoking cigarettes in the front row. Or how your Daddy loved you so. He would tell everyone "See her? That's my Angel". You were priceless Virginia and I truly miss you. I thank my God for the opportunity of knowing and loving you. I have a chihuahua now too, inspired by your stories of Tico. And your home on Continental Street in Warren. A life well lived, you touched the hearts of many. And your pet parakeets: lots of Petey's and one Moses. I hold these treasures so close to my heart. Never to forget knowing and loving you, my dear friend Virginia Guitar.
